About us:

The Live Theatre Workshop's OnStage! Education Department was developed and continues to develop as a center for teaching the theatre arts in a friendly and creative setting. Led by Director of Education, Michael Martinez, weekly classes and summer and winter drama day camps are taught by trained, experienced teachers, actors, and directors from the Tucson community. The program ranges from introducing theatre through the process of producing a script all the way to advanced technical and acting roles, as well as internships. The OnStage! Education program is a great place to begin and develop as a theatre artist.
